WHAT MAKES ST. GEORGE

The Brighter Side

St. George is the 7th-largest City in Utah with a full-time population of more than 90,000 residents. With 300 days of sunshine per year, mild winter temperatures and a gorgeous red rock backdrop, St. George has long been a high-profile tourist destination. In recent years, new residents and visitors are attracted to St. George's world class healthcare, active lifestyle, access to university education and proximity to unrivaled recreation — including renowned golfing, hiking, rock climbing and mountain biking opportunities.

Scenic beauty abounds at nearby Snow Canyon State Park, Quail Creek and Sand Hollow Reservoirs, Zion National Park, Bryce Canyon, Lake Powell and Grand Canyon National Park.

St. George has consistently ranked as one of the fastest growing areas in the nation for the last two decades. It is among the safest and best places to live in the United States and was rated among the top 10 best small cities in the country for business and careers by Forbes.

St. George has attracted high-profile events as its stature has grown. Since 2010 the city has hosted an IRONMAN race every year, and in September 2021 will welcome the world with the IRONMAN 70.3 World Championship. The annual Art Festival, St. George Marathon, and nearby Tuacahn amphitheater provide residents and visitors with high quality entertainment options. Dixie State University's recent transition to Division I athletics punctuates the school's rapid growth and popularity. The bustling St. George Regional Airport boasts nonstop flights to Dallas-Fort Worth, Denver, Phoenix and Salt Lake City.

The City has 700 full-time positions as well as 500 part-time or seasonal employees. Staff members enjoy great working relationships department to department, as well as with our elected officials.
